FACULTY OF HUMANITIES AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

PROGRAMME OUTCOMES (POs)

Degree in Bachelor of Arts

A Bachelor of Arts in Humanities and Social Sciences (HSS) is a versatile degree that offers a broad education in various disciplines within the humanities and social sciences. Graduates of BA in HSS programs develop a wide range of skills and knowledge that can lead to diverse career paths and personal growth. Some potential outcomes of earning a BA in HSS degree are:

PO1. Critical Thinking and Analytical Skills: Graduates develop strong critical thinking and analytical skills, enabling them to assess complex problems and make informed decisions.

PO2. Effective Communication: BA in HSS programs emphasize written and verbal communication skills, which are valuable in many professional fields.

PO3. Research and Data Analysis: Students gain experience in research methodologies and data analysis, which are transferable skills in various sectors.

PO4. Cultural Competency: A BA in HSS degree often includes coursework in anthropology, sociology, and cultural studies, promoting cultural awareness and understanding of diverse societies.

PO5. Interdisciplinary Knowledge: BA in HSS programs expose students to a wide array of subjects, fostering an interdisciplinary approach to problem-solving and critical inquiry.

PO6. Teaching and Education: Graduates may pursue careers in teaching, curriculum development, or educational administration in schools or educational institutions.

PO7. Government and Public Policy: Many BA in HSS graduates find careers in government, public policy analysis, or public administration, contributing to the development and implementation of policies.

PO8. Nonprofit and Social Services: BA in HSS graduates can work in nonprofit organizations, social services, and community outreach programs, helping address societal issues and advocating for change.

PO9. Social Work and Counseling: The degree can be a stepping stone to becoming a licensed social worker, counselor, or therapist, providing support and guidance to individuals and communities.

PO10. Human Resources: Skills in interpersonal relations and understanding human behavior are valuable in human resources roles, including recruitment, training, and conflict resolution.

PO11. Journalism and Media: Graduates with strong communication and writing skills can pursue careers in journalism, public relations, or media production.
