Report on "Workshop on Research Methodology in Social Science"

18.12.2022

A workshop on "Research Methodology in Social Science" was arranged by the Sociology Department of Pt. Prithi Nath (PG) College, Kanpur. The notable speaker was Dr. Ramji Prasad from DAV College, Kanpur. The goal of the talk was to give attendees insightful knowledge about the complexities of social science research methods.

Introduction:

The Incharge of the Sociology Department gave Dr. Ramji Prasad a hearty welcome to kick off the session. The introductory section emphasized Dr. Prasad's noteworthy contributions to the discipline of sociology as well as his proficiency with research technique. Students, teachers, and researchers made up the audience, and they were all looking forward to this insightful discussion about social science research.

Key Points Delivered in the Lecture:

- In his incisive introduction to research technique, Dr. Ramji Prasad emphasized how important it is in laying the groundwork for social science research. In order to guarantee the authenticity and dependability of study findings, he emphasized the significance of taking a methodical approach.
- The speaker covered a wide range of sampling strategies that can be used in social science research as well as the complexities of research design. He gave instances from everyday life to clarify the need for selecting various kinds of sampling techniques.
- A wide range of data collection techniques, such as participant observation, interviews, surveys, and archival research, were presented in detail throughout the lecture. Dr. Prasad offered helpful advice on selecting the best approach based on the goals of the study and its particulars.
- The presentation devoted a considerable amount of time to discussing ethical issues in social science research. Dr. Prasad stressed how important it is for researchers to follow moral guidelines in order to protect study participants' privacy and well-being.
